

Eugene Ganchev, Asia Pacific Head of Trade & Commodity Finance, ABN AMRO

Mr. Eugene Ganchev is ABN AMRO's Asia Pacific Head of Trade & Commodity Finance with overall responsibility for the bank's commodities clients across the region leading in deal origination and strategic dialogue.

Starting out his career with Fortis Bank as a relationship manager with the Financial Institutions Group in Brussels, Eugene later joined ABN AMRO's Energy Commodities team within Trade & Commodity Finance in Amsterdam. The team helped built the CIS portfolio of energy commodity traders across eastern Europe and increased collaboration with Debt Solutions, Clearing, Corporate Finance and Private Banking.

He relocated to Hong Kong in 2016 to expand the Greater China Metals Commodities team as the bank steadily increased its business in Asia Pacific and offered more comprehensive financing solutions in tandem with the regional and international growth of its clients' businesses. The following year, Eugene moved to Singapore as the Head of Energy and Metals Commodities for APAC overseeing clients in Southeast Asia and Greater China.

Eugene is a graduate of Solvay Business School in Brussels, and completed an Executive MBA exchange programme with the Indian Institute of Management (IIM), Bangalore, India.
